Our Unique Approach to Cost Effective Cognos Development

In the current economic climate, managing costs is a top concern for most companies. At the same time, expectations of quality are on the rise and it's more important than ever that services companies, like Adaptive Solutions, are able to provide quality resources that consistently deliver success. In August of 2008, Adaptive Solutions launched the Adaptive University Bridge (AUB) Program aimed at addressing this apparent dichotomy and making a difference in the way we deliver our services.

The Bridge Program has a mission of providing our clients with focused, high-quality resources at significantly reduced costs. The model is surprisingly simple, engage talented and qualified students prior to graduation and provide them with focused Cognos training and mentoring necessary to accelerate their learning curves. As an organization with significant relationships and involvement in the Higher Education space, the opportunity to leverage the largely untapped and enormously talented student resource pool was apparent.
